WELCOME TO SCHOMBERG

The village of Schomberg was settled in 1830 and was initially known as Brownsville after the first landowners. By 1860 the village had prospered, becoming the centre of local commerce boasting banks and a mill, taverns and churches. At the turn of the century, the Aurora/Schomberg railway came to town, and a private residence was converted into a railway station. With the advent of better roads and cars, the railway closed in 1927 and the house reverted to being a private home.

In the centre of Schomberg is the Dufferin Marsh, a wetland that provides for a variety of plant communities, which support resident and migratory birds and animals. Within the Marsh are places to sit and enjoy the wonderful environment. There are also several greenspaces with playground facilities and equipment for smaller children and caregivers.

There are many walking paths within the community. At the southwest corner of Schomberg the trail can be taken through local countryside, from which you can see the rolling hills of King and Caledon, and which connects to the Oak Ridges Trail.

A new venture within the Village is the Schomberg Community Farm. It is designed to provide a hands-on opportunity to experience and appreciate the link between what we grow and what we eat, while learning about gardening skills, ecology, land-to-table issues, and sustainability.

Schomberg is a community with activities that engage families, seniors and youth. The spirit of participation is seen in our sports groups, our business community, the variety of recreational activities, and especially in the volunteer opportunities. Schomberg warmly welcomes all residents to have fun and be involved.
